Web developer

- Driven and self-taught Frontend Developer with a sharp eye for design detail and an obsession with smooth user experiences. I specialize in building pixel-perfect, performant web applications using modern frontend stacks-especially HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and Tailwind CSS. With hands-on experience across personal, freelance, and collaborative projects, I've built, broken, and rebuilt more websites than I can count-learning from every version.
- My journey spans abandoned drafts, design reinventions, and late-night debugging sessions, all of which shaped a developer who codes with clarity, empathy, and impact. Whether I'm translating Figma files into fluid UIs, optimizing layout performance, or integrating third-party APIs, I bring relentless curiosity and a startup-level energy to every line of code.
